He encouraged the congregation to prioritize their relationships with God, family and friends and lead a life that pleases God. Fr Vishwas, quoting St Ignatius of Loyola words "Take, Lord, and receive all my liberty, my memory, my understanding, and my entire will,

All I have and call my own. You have given all to me. To you, Lord, I return it. Everything is yours; do with it what you will. Give me only your love and your grace, that is enough for me" expressed that like St Ignatius, the great dreamer and enthusiast who experienced desolation during his convalescence and then gained greater clarity about his life's mission, we must also follow about our mission of life.

He was speaking during a live phone-in programme at Radio Sarang, St Aloysius College (Autonomous) on Monday, July 31, 2023.

The manner in which he incorporated real life characters to his novel seemed quite fascinating as he is reminiscing few of his friends similar to the central characters of the story. He described the connotation in the cover page of his novel, which depicts love, loss and the pursuit of the "self". An Interaction with Prof. Sundar Sarukkai

Sundar Sarukkai, Professor of Philosophy at the National Institute of Advanced Studies, Bangalore delivered a talk at Joseph Willy Hall from 02:30 pm - 04:00 pm on 24 July, 2023. The talk was organized by the Department of English in collaboration with the Department of English, Mangalore University. The focal point of the session was on his latest work Following the Prayer, which follows the life of a young girl, Kalpana and how she decided to not speak anymore.

Prof. Sarukkai was escorted to the dais by Dr Melisa M. Goveas, HOD English, who also delivered the welcome speech, Mr Naveen Kelvin Dalmeida moderated the session and the ensuing interaction. Rev. Dr Praveen Martis SJ, the Principal, Dr Alwyn D'Sa, the Registrar, Dr Charles V. Furtado, Professor and Director Admin Block, Dr. Ratan T Mohunta, Professor and Dean Research Capacity Building, and Dr Sylvia Rego, Professor, Department of English, were also present. Ms Vijayabharathi from II MA English compered the event & delivered the vote of thanks whilst the students of Postgraduate Studies in English sung the prayer song. Over the course of his lecture, Prof. Sarukkai speaks of the thin line between literature and philosophy. He made use of the phrase "Democratizing Philosophy," which turns out to be a new idea to ponder for the students of English Literature. His story is basically abstract ideas rather than the general style of concrete specific incidents. He also emphasizes how we put our questions on a child, which is as dangerous as giving a child wrong instructions to guide them towards the answer they are seeking. The protagonist, Kalpana and her trauma towards God seems absurd to the naked eye, but the connotations speaks volumes on what happened to her and how language becomes structured lies. In his moderator's remarks, Mr Dalmeida extended Prof. Sarukkai's stance to comparing it with other books and movies that the resource person himself recommended. As an answer, Prof. Sarukkai speaks of No Presents Please: Mumbai Stories by Jayant Kaikini, Vaikom Muhammed Basheer, and May-lee Chai. This laid the groundwork for a fruitful discussion spanning Philosophy, the Art of Writing, Absurdity of life, and Children. The student interaction, spanning Postgraduate and Undergraduate Studies departments of English likewise extended the scope of the topic to varied ideas and other ideas, including the categorization of the work under Children's Literature genre.

The couple not only inspired the students through their messages on bird protection but even gave them bamboo nests, free of cost, for planting.

"It is due to these bamboo nests that sparrows are being seen on our school premises," says Sangeetha. Nithyananda says distance child he was inspired when his mother kept water in mudpans for birds.
