Manoramma M Bhat Endowment Fund Launched to Empower Women In Kannada Literature

Mangaluru, Sep 13: The Manorama M Bhat Endowment Fund has been established in the name of the renowned Kannada writer and advocate for women's causes, Manoramma M Bhat, by her sons, Jayaram Muliya and Mahesh Bhat Muliya. The fund aims to support female students pursuing a BA degree in Kannada literature. Its objective is to empower girls through education and nurture their interest in literature, fostering a progressive mindset. The endowment has been created with the hope that Manorama M Bhat's literary passion and ideological spirit will continue to inspire future generations of women.

The department of Kannada at St Aloysius (Deemed to be University), which is one of the oldest centres for Kannada learning in the country with a history of 145 years, will administer the fund. The department was established by Manorama M Bhat's father-in-law, Muliya Thimmappayya, who was a Professor there. The endowment will be awarded to two female students who are studying Kannada literature as an optional subject for their BA degree. The fund comprises Rs 60,000, which will be distributed in three equal instalments of Rs 20,000 per year over three years. Eligibility for the endowment will be based on the highest marks scored in the PUC Kannada language exam. The first recipients of the Manorama M Bhat Endowment Fund are Minaaz from Shimoga district and Shankrabai from Kalaburgi district, both first-year BA students pursuing a Kannada major at St Aloysius University. The selection was made by a four-member committee that included one of the fund's founders, Mahesh M Bhat, along with the Head of the Department, Dr Mahalinga Bhat, and senior Kannada professors Dr Narasimha Murthy and Dr Vishwanatha Badikana.

Dr Praveen Martis, S J, Vice Chancellor, and Fr Melwyn Joseph Pinto, S J, Pro Chancellor and Rector, expressed their appreciation for the initiative, noting that it will carry forward Manorama M Bhat's legacy in literature while empowering young women and nurturing their passion for Kannada language and culture.

Inauguration of two consultancies

As part of the Parent Teacher Meeting conducted by the School of Vocational Studies on September 19, 2025, at 9:30 AM in L. F. Rasquinha Hall, another milestone was achieved with the inauguration of two consultancies that will provide students with real-time industry exposure and professional opportunities.

The Honourable Vice-Chancellor officially unveiled the boards and inaugurated the two consultancies, marking a significant step forward in enhancing practical learning and industry readiness for students. The first initiative, the BVoc Media Consultancy Cell, will focus on photography, videography, and design. Students will take up commercial projects such as event photography, reels, short videos, posters, and digital invitations. The consultancy will be guided by faculty in charge, Ms Vidya Rani and Ms Aldrina A M. The second consultancy, PAINT SPACE, will provide a platform for young artists to create murals and artistic wall paintings, adding vibrancy to spaces and showcasing their creativity to the wider community. This initiative will be mentored by Ms Aldrina A M. While the students will actively execute the projects, the faculty will oversee quality, provide guidance, and facilitate connections with clients. This model ensures that students not only practice their skills but also gain professional confidence, industry experience, and even earning opportunities while still pursuing their studies. The inauguration of these two consultancies reflects the School of Vocational Studies' commitment to bridging the gap between academics and industry, empowering students to learn, work, and grow with confidence and creativity.

Launch Of INK

As part of the Parent-Teacher Meeting conducted by the School of Vocational Studies on September 19, 2025, in L. F. Rasquinha Hall, the Department of Animation and Multimedia proudly launched INK, Aloysius's first comic book collective, created by the students of B.Voc Animation & Multimedia. The launch was made memorable as the Honourable Vice-Chancellor officially unveiled INK by untying the ribbon and releasing the book, marking a historic moment for the department and the Institution. The name INK was chosen as it symbolizes both the traditional tool of storytelling and the creative flow of ideas that come alive on paper. Just as ink gives life to words and drawings, this collective represents the students' voices, imagination, and storytelling power. This first edition of INK has been brought to life under the guidance of the Editor-in-Chief, Ms. Aldrina A M, with Student Editor Aadya and Creative Designer Praneeth Acharya leading the student editorial team. Together, they have curated a collection that reflects the creativity, vision, and passion of the students. INK is not merely a comic book, it is a platform where stories are expressed through art, and narratives take shape with originality and imagination. The unveiling of INK as Aloysius's first comic book added a special significance to the Parent Teacher Meeting, highlighting the department's commitment to nurturing creativity and providing students with opportunities to share their work with a larger audience.

NCC Celebrates the world Rivers Day

On the occasion of World Rivers Day, and as part of the nationwide

Swachhotsav campaign, the 18 KAR Battalion, Mangalore Group, in collaboration with St Aloysius (Deemed to be University), organized a cleanliness and awareness drive at Someshwara Beach on September 20. The programme was led by ANO Capt Shakin Raj and conducted under the guidance of Lt Col Rohit Prakash Rai, commanding officer of 18 KAR Battalion. The event witnessed the enthusiastic participation of 90 NCC Army Wing cadets from the University. The drive aimed to raise public awareness about the importance of cleanliness, environmental conservation, and tree plantation, with special emphasis on the role of rivers and coastal ecosystems. Cadets engaged with local residents and tourists, educating them on how planting trees improves air quality, reduces pollution, and promotes environmental sustainability. Saplings were distributed to local residents and tourists as a symbolic gesture, encouraging them to plant and nurture trees to contribute to a greener planet. A beach cleaning activity was conducted, during which cadets collected and responsibly disposed of plastic waste, bottles, and other debris, helping restore the natural beauty and cleanliness of the beach. This initiative highlighted the vital need to preserve rivers, beaches, and other natural water bodies, while reinforcing the message that individual efforts can have a meaningful environmental impact.

Through their dedication and teamwork, the NCC cadets demonstrated a strong commitment to community service, environmental protection, and the values of Swachh Bharat, serving as role models for the public.

Remona Evette Pereira was felicitated with a title "Motiya Vazram" during the Annual General Body Meeting of CASK today where she performed Bharathanatyam.

"When we have interest and dedication, it is possible to overcome any obstacle and reach the peak of success," said artiste Remona Evette Pereira, who entered the Golden Book of World Records by performing Bharatanatyam for 170 hours. She was speaking on Sunday as the chief guest at the Girls' Day Celebration organised by the Women's Commission and women's organizations at Thottam St Ann's Church. Remona Evette Pereira inaugurated the programme and, in her address, she said "Every person has special talents, and when parents and society encourage them, it inspires them to achieve. While girls strive to accomplish difficult feats, it is natural for society to give both encouragement and criticism. But without worrying too much about criticism, if one moves forward with the sole aim of achievement, success is guaranteed. In today's competitive society, parents should not impose their own desires on children, but rather encourage them to pursue the field in which they have genuine interest. If so, one day they will certainly shine with remarkable achievements," she said. Presiding over the programme, Denis D'Sa, parish priest, said "A woman is not weak but empowered, and this has already been proven through her achievements. Through the "Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao" campaign, special encouragement is being given to girls in our country, and this opportunity must be utilized. Compared to the past, today women have advanced in every field.

There are ample opportunities for women in this nation, and by making use of them, they must grow to greater heights." On behalf of the church, artiste Remona Evette Pereira was honoured and Leslie Aroza, vice president of the church's parish council, conveyed best wishes for the event. At the event, prizes were distributed to the winners of the speech competition organized by Catholic Sabha, Udupi region.
